NORWICH RUNAWAY AT WESTERLY

Thomas Rutten, Who Took French Leave From State Inebriate Farm, Held Till Called For—Other Arrests—Man Who Shot Cow Under $300 Bonds—Republican Caucus—Forty-three Cottages Open at Watch Hill.

Five of the cells in the Westerly police station were occupied Thursday morning when Chief of Police "Tom" Brown made his regular inspection. In cell No. 1 was a North Stonington young man who is no stranger to penal institutions although his chief offense is intoxication. He had no money to pay a fine, or even the costs, and to send him down the line would mean an expense to the town, and to put him on probation, after incurring an expense of the court costs, would be of no avail. He promised the chief that if released he would go immediately beyond the police jurisdiction of Westerly and would make heroic effort to drink of intoxicants no more. He was released by the chief.

In another cell was a chap who, while intoxicated, called at the police station for lodgings and was locked up. He said he was a weaver and could get employment at Potter Hill if given the opportunity. Chief Brown warned him to travel on unless he secured the expected employment, and not to be seen in Westerly again in an intoxicated condition. The chief told him to get, and he got out of the station in short order.

Another cell was occupied by a prisoner charged with intoxication, a weaver employed at the Pawcatuck woolen mill, and who has been in that employ about two years. He was a year and a half in the state prison, R. L. is unmarried and, though always a drinking man, he had never been arrested before, and was willing to take his medicine, believing that those would do him good. Judge Williams imposed a fine of $2 and costs of $5, which was paid.

Thomas Rutten, who escaped from the Connecticut inebriate farm, near the Norwich state hospital, was another cell occupant. He was held until called for by an officer of the Connecticut institution.

In another cell was Antonio Ferraro of Westerly, who was arrested on a complaint charging him with cruelty to animals, and his case was referred to Agent Smith of the state society for the prevention of cruelty to animals for investigation. He is charged with shooting a cow owned by Charles Dorch of Pond street last Tuesday morning. The cow was out at pasture and was shot in the upper, back and side. The wounds were so serious that the animal was sold to a butcher. The cow was valued at $75 before the shooting and was sold for $35. Ferraro claims that he did not knowingly shoot the cow, but stated that he was in the vicinity of the pasture and fired 20 shots and had killed 20 sparrows. The three shots that struck the cow would indicate that they were well aimed and not chance shots that were intended for sparrows on the wing. When arrested Ferraro pleaded not guilty and furnished a bond of $400 for appearance in the Third district court on Friday of next week.

Other Charles Fuller of Hope Valley brought two boys, Bravum, age 17, and LaFontaine, age 15, both of whom had been in court before charged with this particular crime. In that state and in North Carolina. In court the boys said they made a mistake and were returning home, go to work and make good the money they had stolen. The boys reached Hope Valley late Wednesday night and delivered themselves up to Officer Fuller at his residence and gave him $34 as an evidence of their intention to make good the money. The boys were given a fatherly talk by Judge Williams and were then released and are to report regularly to Probation Officer Campbell. They were warned that their slightest deviation from the path of honesty would mean confinement in the state reformatory.

The Westerly dye works was granted a charter by the secretary of state Wednesday and will do business in that part of the plant at the Pawcatuck shirt company located in the town of Westerly, and will be a valuable addition to the industries of the town. The concern was organized by the dyeing and finishing cotton and worsted yarns, fabrics and other goods. The capital stock is $1000 and the incorporators are Charles A. Root, Louis Bachman and Robert N. Smith.

There was a marriage in Westerly, Wednesday, which was done without the service of a minister, justice of the peace, judge or court or any official. The marriage was in accordance with the faith of the Society of Friends and occurred in the Hanover road, received $422,370 votes and was given a gold watch. Ferdinand LeClerc was awarded a chest of silver, she having $526,640 votes. Others who received awards were Mrs. A. P. Cote, Helen Babblu, Mary L. DesChamps, Nellie Bailey, Mrs. War Watson and Bolan Vieux. C. F. Charon announced the names of the winners at 9:45.

Got 27 Pound Coon. Henry Lacroix, Al Charon and Arthur Roy, Jr., accompanied by Mr. Lacroix's coon dog, Perpetual, started on a hunting expedition Wednesday evening in what is known as the Baltic ledge belt. After considerable traveling a large coon was encountered and the dog took the scent and started on the trail. Mr. Coon was overtaken by the dog and a fierce battle ensued, the dog proving the better of the two. The animal was put out of commission by the hunters. On returning home the coon was weighed by Oliver Porcellane and was 27 3/4 pounds. Four other coons were also captured by the Baltics, averaging from eighteen to twenty-one pounds.

Friends Meeting-house in Elm street. The contracting parties were: Jesse Edgerton, of Damascus, Ohio, and Mrs. Jane Foster, of East Greenwich, R. I. They simply repeated the marriage vows, the one to the other, and the clerk of the meeting certified the marriage to the town clerk as a matter of record and requirement of civil law.

The republican caucus for the nomination of state senator and two representatives to the general assembly was held in the Westerly town hall Thursday night, and was the largest ever held in the town. There were practically three caucuses in one, a general caucus for senator and two district caucuses for representatives. Arthur L. Perry, secretary of the town committee, called the general caucus to order, and Eugene B. Pendleton was chosen moderator, and Everett E. Whipple clerk. Mr. Pendleton has been moderator of caucuses for many years and was never known to make a speech of acceptance until Thursday night, he being usually content with the stereotyped remark: "Gentlemen, I thank you for the nomination of a secretary." But before calling for a secretary he made quite a little speech. He thanked his fellow republicans for electing him moderator of the latter caucus ever held in Westerly, and said that while the national campaign did not seem to carry with it much interest, still it is demonstrated in Westerly that there is zealous interest by the people of this town, the American people, and especially the republican party.

Samuel H. Davis nominated Albert H. Langworthy for state senator. There was no other nomination, and Mr. Langworthy was unanimously nominated by acclamation.

This caucus then dissolved.

Dr. John M. O'Connell called the First representative district to order, and he was chosen temporary chairman. John Ferguson, Jr., was elected clerk. In behalf of the town committee, D. J. Arnold, Rogers nominated Francis G. Haswell for representative. Edward J. Pendleton nominated Joseph T. Murphy for representative. It was then voted to proceed to vote by paper ballot and that the polls remain open until 10 o'clock.

Arthur L. Perry called the Second representative district to order. Eugene B. Pendleton was chosen chairman and Charles E. Binkins clerk. William H. Ledward, representing the republican town committee, nominated Maurice W. Flynn for representative from the Second district. Palmer Chapman nominated Samuel H. Davis in opposition. It was also voted to take a paper ballot and the balloting continue until 10 o'clock.

The iron railings used in regular elections had been installed and the balloting proceeded as at elections of the moderator and clerk officiating. Then the political fight was on in both districts, by ballots in the hall, while outside many automobiles were scurrying hither and thither bringing voters to the town hall, and there was more activity in that town than in any other at all elections combined in Westerly for the past quarter of a century. Naturally there was more or less titling between adherents of the opposing candidates during the progress of the vote, but on the whole the caucuses were conducted orderly, as political caucuses go in these modern times.

The result of the caucus votes are as follows:

First district, Maurice W. Flynn, 333; Samuel H. Davis, 335; Second district, Francis G. Haswell, 242; Joseph T. Murphy, 218.

Moderator Pendleton announced the vote and declared Mr. Flynn to be the nominee of caucus. Subsequently the moderator announced that the error had been discovered, and that the actual vote was favorable to Mr. Davis whose vote was 348 and that Mr. Flynn's vote was 25 less than announced. As he was moderating had already announced he could make no contrary declaration. So Mr. Flynn is the nominee and it is up to Mr. Davis to make the next move.

The several candidates and their friends made an advance canvas, urging all voters to attend the caucus, hence the unusually large attendance.

Another case of infantile paralysis has developed in Westerly and in Crafts court, where the Larkin boy died of the disease several weeks ago, although the cases are said to be in no way connected. The victim is a girl named Register, aged 15 months, who with her mother and a sister 2 years old have been visiting her past month at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Noyes in Crafts court. Mrs. Noyes is grandmother of the child. The mother and children came here from Providence about a year ago.

Dr. J. DeVere Barber was called to attend the child Wednesday, and he at once suspected infantile paralysis. He called Dr. John L. M. for consultation, and they diagnosed the case as infantile paralysis. Dr. Barber decided to investigate further and notified Dr. Bernstein, pathologist for the state board of health. The doctor came to Westerly Thursday and confirmed the diagnosis made by the two physicians. The health department was notified and the house was immediately quarantined and a police officer deputized to see that the quarantine is observed strictly.

Local Laconics. The recent burglaries in Westerly and Pawcatuck are not yet solved. The dahlias here and hereabouts are almost ready to succumb to Jack Frost.

Several from Westerly are planning to attend the big dairy meet in Springfield, Mass.

The Third district court, Judge Oliver H. Williams, comes in from Westerly this morning.

The Westerly band will give a complimentary concert in Wilcox park on Sunday afternoon.

Westerly republicans have no democratic opponents and therefore if there is a political scrap it must be between themselves, a sort of family jar.

Aside from the closing of schools and the banks, and lessening of public service by the post office, there was no observance of Columbus Day in Westerly.

The fire department was called out about 11 o'clock Thursday night for a blaze in the work shop in the rear of the residence of Everett Burne. The loss was slight.

There will be a parade of firemen on Saturday evening that will include the local department and veteran association, and also the three fire companies of Stonington borough.

The republican caucus has been held the candidates nominated and now it is all over except the required formality of voting. It is not a question of republican majority, but how much.

The automobiles owned by Charles A. Morgan and Harry Peckham were in collision and at Grove avenue and Granite street at 10 o'clock Thursday night. Both machines were considerably damaged, but no one was injured.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

WHEN CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look at the tongue mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, restless sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "Figs" laxative. They love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

"I have known the value of the medicine for five years and hope this word of praise may urge others to try it. I have taken it myself and it has done me a lot of good." (Signed) Mrs. John Kelly, 5 W. 101st St., New York City. Many families keep Father John's Medicine on hand constantly in case of emergency, because they know that as a tonic and body-builder it has more than fifty years of success. It does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form but is all pure and wholesome nourishment for those who are weak and run down. It gives them strength to ward off disease.
